To Whom It May Concern:

Teleses Center For Learning, Inc. is delighted to be part of the Quality Schools Program for the last two years. To begin with, when Teleses Preparatory Academy (9-12) and Teleses Preparatory (K-8) were part of the School Accountability Plan with the AZ State Board for Charter Schools, we approached QSP to assist us with the Accountability Plan submission and implementation in June of 2014. The Vice President of Academics Dr. Ildiko Laczko-Kerr assigned a QSP Lead Trainer Andrew Nelson to work with our school leaders and staff in planning, organizing, and implementing the Accountability Plan to meet the academic performance expectations set forth in the Board's Academic Performance Framework.

Mr. Nelson worked with our Instructional Analysis Director and Superintendent/Principal to assist us with our professional development requirements, effective coaching and modeling, data analysis trainings, and generating the data reports meeting the Charter Board's requirements.

Over the last two years we have seen huge improvements in our overall student performance, student achievement, and staff instructional practices based on the data analysis trainings and the data-driven instruction on our campus. During the Galileo Data Analysis trainings teachers were trained on disaggregating and analyzing their data for areas of strength, growth, and improvement to drive instruction and intervention. The feedback from all the surveys reflected that 80-90% of the staff were rating QSP trainings as "Excellent."

The QSP trainer was very professional, knowledgeable, friendly, and accommodating. He provided timely assistance to our Instructional Analysis Director with the Assessment Plan, Assessment Calendar, PD Plan, and PD Calendar before the school year started. Mr. Nelson generated Mid-Year summary and SWOT Analysis to measure the program implementation and identify areas of growth to work before the state assessment. This was a great tool for the school leaders to evaluate our organization's objectives and analyze our strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats.

Overall, our experience with QSP is outstanding. Teleses Center For Learning, Inc. strongly recommends the Charter Schools Association to continue with this program to help new or struggling schools benefit from this program.

Sincerely,
